The National Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá’ís of Ireland, in accordance with the requirements of the Children First Act 2015, Children First: National Guidance for the Protection and Welfare of Children 2017, and Tusla Guidance on the preparation of Child Safeguarding Statements, has agreed this Child Safeguarding Statement as set out in this document. It is binding on all members of the Bahá’í community and the children's class teachers, junior youth animators, study circle coordinators and assistants who work on behalf of the organisation.

The Bahá’í community, under the guidance of the National Spiritual Assembly, aims to foster and develop qualities in children and young people, through the provision of children's classes, junior youth groups and study circles, in addition to other outreach, educational and community building activities that will enable them to become aware of and realise the potential they have to be of service to humanity.

The National Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá’ís of Ireland recognises that child safeguarding and welfare considerations permeate all aspects of the children's classes, junior youth groups and study circles provided, in addition to the organisation's outreach and community building activities, and must be reflected in all of its policies, procedures, practices and activities.

In its policies, procedures, practices and activities, the National Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá’ís of Ireland, the members of the Bahá’í community and all its registered children's class teachers, junior youth animators, study circle tutors and assistants will adhere to the following principles of best practice in child protection and welfare.

The organisation:

- recognises that the safeguarding and welfare of children is of paramount importance, regardless of all other considerations;
- has the intention to be fully compliant with its statutory obligations under the Children First Act 2015 and other relevant legislation relating to the protection and welfare of children;
- has the intention to fully co-operate with the relevant statutory authorities in relation to child safeguarding and welfare matters;
- adopts safe practices to minimise the possibility of harm or accidents happening to children and protect volunteers from the necessity to take unnecessary risks that may leave themselves open to accusations of abuse or neglect;
- is developing a practice of openness and partnership with parents;
- encourages parental involvement in the education of their children, junior youth and youth;
- fully respects confidentiality requirements in dealing with child protection matters.
